

After years of being increasingly frustrated with the deteriorating quality of programming on commercial radio stations, I have become a subscriber to XM Satelite Radio. The wide variety of music and talk programming available on XM is truly amazing. While I still frequently listen to local radio for local sports and news, I really appreciate the ability to hear music programming that is no longer provided by Los Angeles commercial radio stations. Being able to tune in to full time local traffic and weather is also terrific. I cannot see how limiting what satelite radio can offer to its subscribers makes any sense at all.
